SKYLARK MICRO MISSION: SCOTLAND TO SCIENCE

Have you ever wanted to design your own mission patch for a rocket company?

Summer 2020, Skyrora will be flying our Skylark Micro rocket for the first time. This rocket will be pushing to the edge of space to help us develop technology and practice for our big satellite launching rockets coming in the near future.

For the first time ever, Skyrora are looking for a Micro mission patch design to signify Skyrora's Skylark Micro I launch. We wanted to give our space fans the opportunity to have their very own design as Skyrora's first ever mission patch.

The winner will receive a Skyrora jacket, a VIP goody bag, a tour of Skyrora's facilities and a chance to meet and greet the team (of course when it is all safe to do so). The winning design will be converted into graphics and flown on Skylark Micro.

Help us design a mission patch for Micro! Your starting points could be an image of the rocket itself; the consideration that we are a Scottish company; the name of the launch vehicle, or that it will be flying from rugged northern landscapes.

We cannot wait to see what you can come up with!
